In this comedic drama, septuagenarian Althea Witlin has a 3,000 piece jigsaw puzzle in her large collection that she's never worked on and she has less than a day to finish it. Poor health has forced her to move in with her younger sister - without taking her beloved puzzles with her. How can she possibly give up her favorite pastime for the rest of her life? But when a buyer for her house shows up, his mutual love of puzzles convinces him to stay and help her complete The Puzzle with the Piazza before her sister arrives the next day to move her out.
